Boer Colony for Kansas
Gen. William Fouché, Boer patriot, is now a Kansas farmer. He has purchased a quarter section of land near Geneseo, in Ellsworth county, and has taken possession of the property. The purchase by Gen. Fouché is said to mean that a Boer colony will be established there. Gen. Fouché is in correspondence with former companions in arms who are still in South Africa, and who have been waiting for Gen.
Fouché to find a suitable location before they came to America with their families.

BULLDOG JAW IS UNIVERSAL.

Jules Hurst, the French Writer, Says
Even American Clothing Dummies Have It.

"I have the dummy figures in America have the bulldog jaw and Spartan chin common to all Americans."
"This is the comment of Jules Hurst, the French newspaper writer, who has been gathering impressions of America at first hand. It was made after a visit to Kansas City, which, according to Mr. Hurst, is as like other American cities he has visited as peas in a pod the only perceptible difference being that it was a trifle more vulgar."
"No monuments," he says, "Nothing to see but the front of tailor shops."

In his journey from Pueblo to St.
Louis by way of Kansas City, Mr. Hurst noticed that the railway employees were decidedly familiar in their bearing to the passengers. He found one conductor whose parents were born in Lorraine, but it was no use to talk to him about France. He was American through and through, and couldn't speak a word of French. It was on this journey that Mr. Hurst heard the men talking of having a good time.
The expression "a good time" is very American," he says, "It means with me a combination of a rest and a causue. The easterner speaks of it with an accent of reproach, as a thing unknown to him and which he ought not to know. The negro, on the contrary, speaks of it as the dream of his life. In the south and west, especially "good time" is a cue and legitimate recompense."

How Webster Missed Being President.
The campaign of 1840 had a dramatic and unexpected sequel. Thurlow Weed, before the meeting of the Whig convention, and before the meeting of the Democratic convention, had urged him to take second place on the ticket with Harrison, but the suggestion was rejected with scorn. An acceptance of Weed's advice would have made Webster president in little more than a year.

ily for 5 years, and find it the best and most reliable medicine I ever

WHOLE CITY SHOCKED

Death of I. R. Mills Called Forth Many Expressions of Sorrow Among All Classes of People.

WAS A WIDELY KNOWN CITIZEN

And Had Been Prominently Before the Public for Twenty Years.

The sudden death of I. R. Mills was a shock to the people of the city. He had been prominent in public life for so many years that there was scarcely a person in the city who was not acquainted with him by reputation and his personal acquaintance was large. On the streets Monday many persons asked questions regarding details of Mr. Mills and later in the day many questions from other cities came from friends who wanted to know the time of the funeral.

Mr. Mills was probably as widely known as any other man in the city.
He had many close friends who liked him and many political friends with whom he had been associated.

Isaac R. Mills was born Sept. 5, 1855, in Putnam county, Pa. His father was Eli R. Mills who came here in 1841. Mr. Mills attended the common schools and lived on a farm and later entered Lincoln university in Lincoln, Ill., from which he was graduated in 1875. He began studying law at once in Chicago, and was admitted to the bar in 1878. After a year in practice in Chicago he removed to Decatur, where he has ever since made his home.

Mr. Mills was married on Sept. 11, 1878. Four children were born to this union. These were: Walter E., Mary J., Ida A., and Gertrude A. Mrs.
Mills died Feb. 14, 1888.

On March 31, 1891, Mr. Mills married Miss Mary R. Hachenberg, daughter of Joseph C. and Rachel R. Hachen-berg, citizens of Christian county.

In 1893 Mr. Mills was elected city attorney. In June, 1898 he was appointed by the board of supervisors to fill the unexpired term of office of Judge E. P. Vail, who was then state's attorney and was elected circuit judge. In the fall of this same year he was elected to the senate, was re-elected in 1902, and had served eight years on the expiration of that term.

Mr. Mills was a member of the First Presbyterian church. He was a Knights Templar and a member of Chevalier Elvador lodge No. 189, K. of P. In December, 1901, his appointment to the position of revenue collector for the eighth district was confirmed by the senate and Mr. Mills held the office until the time of his death.

Mr. Mills was actively engaged in the recent contest for the nomination for governor on the republican ticket and he managed the campaign for Hannin in this county and was victorious.

It was during this time that Mr. Mills became ill. He was troubled with rheumatism and it became impossible for him to walk without crutches. He got some better and was able to get about with a cane.

During the weeks he has been ill Mr. Mills was by no means idle. He had a telephone where he could talk without getting up from his sofa. In his room he had his typewriter and while confined to the house he was making plans for his model farm which he started near his house. This was his hobby. He owned a fine string and owned a fine string and he intended to make his farm the finest of the kind in this part of the state. He had started out on an elaborate scale and took great pleasure in making the plans and overseeing the work.

HALF FALSE JEWELS.

How One Diamond Makes Two Each
as Big as the Original.

The lady was splitting a diamond.
He leaned forward with intent brows. His tiny machine buzzed like a bee. A delicate and shining dust arose.

Then suddenly everything was stilled, and the diamond, split in halves, lay in the lady's white, thin hand.
"Out of one diamond," he said, "I am going to make two, and each of these two will be as big and brilliant as the original one was."

As he scraped up the glittering dust
he explained:

"First I will make a paste an exact duplicate of each of these two halves.
Then I will join in the bottom of each residue half its artificial complement, making the imitation exactly like the one will be able to perceive it. Finally I will mount these two half false and half genuine stones. Each then will appear to be altogether genuine.
Their paste foundation will not detract in any way from their brilliance.
The owner of the big diamond will have two big diamonds."

"The making of fake jewels," the lady said, "is an interesting study.
Do you know what the best fake pearls are made of? They are made of fish scales—silvery and iridescent fish scales grafted on the inside of balls of glass. The fish these scales come from is called in France the ablette and in England the bleak. It is smaller than a minnow. Its scales must be picked off by hand, and only a small portion of the fish can be used. It takes 15,000 ablettes, or bleaks, to yield a pound of scales." New York Telegram.

DIES IN QUEST OF A CURE.

Scientist a Victim of Consumption for Which He Sought a Remedy.

After passing a life of considerable commercial activity and devoting recent years to scientific and medical research Robert Scott of Tyre house, Grainville, New Castle, is dead, a victim to his own interest in the well-known disease. Mr. Scott was notable during recent years as an investigator into the causes and possible cure of tu-bercular diseases.

His methods were exhaustive and minute, a firm believer in the practical benefits of restriction, he conducted minute experiments on monkeys with the idea of testing certain curative theories which he held.

At one time or another quite a troop of monkeys inhabited the cages separate for their reception, and these animals were inoculated with the tuberculosis germs obtained from human consumptives.

The monkeys were carefully dieted and were treated with the utmost care.
When the cure was considered complete the monkeys were killed and their lungs subjected to careful examination. Many cases of Scott were convicted and managed to convince a jury of medical experts that all traces of consumption had vanished.

Then he himself contracted consumption. A firm believer in the treatment hitherto confined to monkeys, he had a special "condensed pure air" chamber prepared for himself. He died, as many another man has done before him, a martyr to scientific research.

ALWAYS WELCOME PRINCE

Henry is a Great Favorite in English Society.

One of the most important of recent visitors in London is Prince Henry of Prussia, K. G., G. C. B., brother of the emperor of Germany.

Being a great lover of the English court, Prince Henry is always warmly welcomed on his visits to the realms of his royal uncle. Much of the popularity he enjoys among his relatives in England is owing to his sunny disposition and genial temper, and although he does not let people forget that he is brother to "William the Great," Prince Henry is totally without "side," and has just the hearty ways and simple, frank manner one would expect in a sailor.

For his royal highness is the sailor brother of the Viceroy, and has been more at sea than any other officer of his standing in the German navy.
He began his career as a small "mid-shipman" and his very first voyage was a visit to his grandmother, the late Queen Victoria, at Osborne, when, it is said, "was greatly pleased with the little Prussian lorryback of a prince."

But ever since the days when they attended the same college together the brothers have been devoted to each other, and it is said, in all their lives have never had one serious quarrel. The arrival of Prince Henry has for his illustrious brother is something very akin to hero worship; for he thinks there is no one on earth who comes so near perfection as the emperor.

When he is away from home Prince Henry writes the Kaiser a lengthy letter every day, and always wears a little lock attached to his watchchain with a miniature of his imperial brother, William.

Scarcely less popular than Prince Henry in England is Princess Irene, his wife. Her royal highness, of course, well known in England, because after the death of her mother she always spent half the year with her grandmother, Queen Victoria, and the other half with the Emperor Frederick, the two queens mothering the pretty princess between them.

Princess Irene of Prussia enjoys the altogether unique distinction of possessing 4,000 godchildren. This is how she came to be so well provided for in that respect.

When she was born the great war of 1866 was just drawing to a close, and before the royal baby was a week old peace had been declared. Prince-Louis of Hesse requested all the officers and men of the regiment under his command to stand godfather to his little daughter, and at the christening the baby princess was named Irene, which means "peace."

All over the land the people looked upon little Princess Irene as the harbinger of peace and joy, and throughout her girlhood she was known as the "Friedenskind" or child of peace.

The wife of Germany's sailor prince has played a great though unobtrusive part in her husband's career, and is immensely popular in Kiel, where they live.

THROW PRAYERS AT IDOL

If They Stick Petition of the Japanese Will Be Answered.

One of the most curious phases of religion existed in Japan, where on the sacred road to Nikko is located an idol about which centers one of the most peculiar worship in the world. Upon the surface of the statue are seen little pieces of what appears to be dried paper. If you stand by the idol for a while and wait for a worshiper to come along, you will see what these bits of paper are. The devotee holds in front of the image then scribbles a prayer upon a bit of paper. This he then chews up into a ball and hurds at the idol. It is hit the face and sticks the prayer is sure to be answered, and the pious pilgrim goes away happy. If the ball sticks to some portion of the idol the onen is not quite so propitious and if it falls to the ground there is absolutely no hope.

Such a mode of prayer is even more curious than the praying wheels of the Buddhist, who set the wheel revolving and reel of prayers by machinery. As John L. Stoddard, the lecturer, says:
"One sees of course, numberless strange rites connected with religion in traveling about the world, but Japan is the only land I have ever visited where deities serve as targets for masticated prayers."

TWO STEPS.

A sick coffee drinker must take two steps to be rid of his troubles and get strong and well again.

The first is to cut off coffee absolutely.

That removes the destroying element. The next step is to take liquid food (and that is Postum Food Coffee) that cleans the blood and restores quies to change the blood capsules from pale pink or white to rich red, and good red blood builds good strong and healthy cells in place of the broken down cells destroyed by coffee.

With well boiled Postum Food Coffee, to shift to, both these steps are easy and pleasant. The experience of a Georgian proves how important both are.

"From 1872 to the year 1900 my wife and I had been afflicted with sick or nervous headache and at times we suffered untold agony. We were coffee drinkers and did not know how to get away from it for the habit is hard to quit."

"But in 1900 I read of a case similar to ours where Postum Coffee was used in place of the old coffee and a complete cure resulted, so I concluded to get some and try it."

"The result was, after three days use of Postum in place of the coffee I never had a symptom of the old trouble and in five months I had gained from 145 pounds to 165 pounds."

"My friends asked me almost daily what had wrought the change. My answer always is, leaving off coffee and drinking Postum in its place."

"We have many friends who have been benefited by Postum."

"As to whether or not I have stated the facts truthfully I refer you to the bank of Carrollton or any business firm in that city where I have lived for many years and am well known."

The Fourth of July boy is howling in the hospital.

With Bryan eliminated the demopop variety will be extinct.

It should not be forgotten that the pops are in convention in Springfield.

The fact that a Georgia regiment has reached St. Louis emphasizes the fact that the war is over.

St. Louis expects the real fireworks to begin when Senator Jones calls the faithful to arms.

St. Louis the treasury surplus was $11,000,000 which spoils a job and the predictions as to the for the fiscal year.

St. Louis the democrats will go to the top of their platform. Why that is the state where 1400 elects a democratic congressman.

St. Louis people say the fair is the show on earth. Agreed there is comparison except the democratic convention and St. Louis has that.

Swallow is a very suggestive name for a prohibition candidate. Still one swallow does not make a man intoxicated and one Swallow is not likely to upset party calculations in the nation.

The paper that reports that a number of republicans in this city would support Cleveland in case he is nominated is making a wild guess. What reason is there why any republican should support Cleveland? The only views he holds in common with republicans relate to the money question which is settled. On the tariff question he is more dangerous than any other living democrats.

PITCHING JONAH OVERBOARD.
It is very evident this morning with the democratic convention but 24 hours away that the "republicans," the "conservatives" are in the saddle. The Bryan-Tillman-Altkeld-ferry Shipson conceptions of governmental policy have been weighed in the balance and found wanting in producing victories and spoils. No policy can be long maintained by any party which does not enlist the majority of the American people. In 1896 the wave of populism led by Bryan's eloquence swept the convention off of its feet and the conservative and sound policy democrats out of the party. Bryan became absolute master of what was left of the party when Cleveland, Carlisle, Gorman, Palmer, and the real leaders left it. Thousands of democrats in every state held county above party and voted for McKinley or stopped at the half-way house of Palmer. In 1900 Bryan was the autocrat at Kansas City and named the issue and labelled it "garment." Four years have led the thinking democrats to a sadder view. At St. Louis this week there promises to be a brief interval. It is generally recognized that no democrat can win this time but it is believed wisdom to clear the decks for 1908.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN.
While there is universal regret for the death of Hon. I. R. Mills, in the Washburn wreck, because he was generally and favorably known, the death of the brave Engineer Sanford and Fireman Smith is a loss and calls for the sympathy of everybody. While Mr. Mills held a prominent place in the community, the position occupied by the sturdy engineer and fireman was no less, and many respects, far more important. He, while he may be characterized as never called to the responsibility or the safety of human lives. Engineer Sanford and his fireman were charged with the safety of the cars of those who rode upon the train and engine was pulling. When he opened the throttle of his engine Sunday afternoon, Sanford felt this responsibility, as he always did, under similar circumstances. He was an intelligent, careful and fearless engineer who came to the Washburn during the troublesome times of 1894, just ten years ago. He was master of his engine and shot it through space, carrying his load of living beings behind him, at the rate of 60 to 70 miles an hour, with the same courage that he would walk the streets regardless of the general hazard involved. An open switch, a broken rod or wheel or the spreading of the rails or the yielding of a bridge were the only dangers he could not guard against and was not supposed to. He and his fireman lost their lives on account of an open or defective switch. Some one may have been to blame. It was not the brave engineer. Had the conditions been such that he could have saved the lives of those on his train by sacrificing his own, he would not have hesitated a moment to make the sacrifice. But he had no opportunity to do this and went to his death with his charge.

This appalling accident should impress upon us all the splendid manhood and importance of the locomotive engineer and their fireman. There is no aggregation of men to whom the travelling public owe so much. The man who fully appreciates the responsibility these men assume, the hazardous character of their calling and the many acts of courage they display feels like taking off his hat to any one of them when he meets him or sees him with firm step and resolute face mounting his car for a run.

The dead bodies of Sanford and Smith, sacrificed to duty and calling, lie in our midst. The citizens of Decatur should show their respect for the men of their calling and for the accidents also by paying proper tribute to their memory when the remains are committed to the tomb.

May the most appropriate decorations the mind can conceive or the heart entwine be ever upon the brow of our brave and sturdy locomotive engineers and firemen.

HON. I. R. MILLS DEAD.

The sudden death of Hon. I. R. Mills in the Washburn wreck at Litchfield Sunday evening was a great shock to one people. There is nothing more appalling than a railroad wreck followed by the death of a man of such prominence. To add to this, in the case of Mr. Mills is the fact that he has been sorely afflicted since the 15th of last March with an attack of sciatic rheumatism from which he suffered untold agonies and had recently begun to get better. In the time of affliction such as Mr. Mills suffered there is always universal sympathy for the sufferer and commensurate relief when his sufferings end in recovery. The community was just discovering the improvement in Mr. Mills' case and little expected the worse calamity that so suddenly befell him.

Mr. Mills was a man of marked ability in general knowledge and in the knowledge of law. He had also taken high rank as an astute politician. He was a man who had a strong personality and was positive in his convictions. Such a man always stands high in his community, has loyal personal friends and strong opposition. This was true of Mr. Mills. It is also true that none respect his unholy and more than that those who did not agree with him politically and otherwise, and many were the regrets expressed when the sad news was learned.

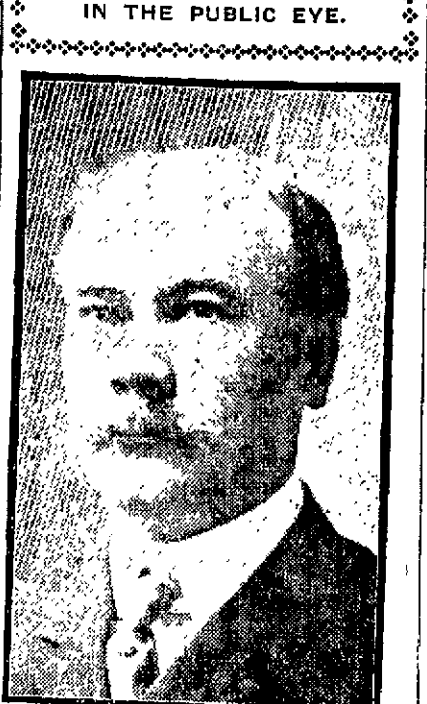

Mr. Mills was always reliable in his dealings and agreements with the law of his profession. He was always reliable and fair with those with whom he was called politically and even those who opposed him. He was always reliable and fair with those with whom he was called politically and even those who opposed him.

His campaign in this county for state's attorney an office to which he was several times elected was always strong. His campaign for congress in 1898 was marked by great vigor and earnestness. Accepting the nomination at the request of his friends against his better judgment, because he did not believe his party could carry the district, he entered the contest with the same energy he would have displayed had he felt certain that success would attend his efforts. It was in this campaign that he attracted the attention of politicians outside of his country and laid the foundation which a few years later gave him the position of Internal Revenue collector which he held at the time of his death. Outside of his public career there was another side of Mr. Mills that will not be overlooked. This is the every day feature of his life as a boy, a man, a father, a husband and a father.

Mr. Mills, when but two years old, was left an orphan. He was raised on a farm and was left largely to his own resources. Without the training and advice the boy and sympathy of parents he worked his way into the legal profession, and became one of the best. Socially he was one of those one likes to meet. He had a smile and a kind word for all even for his enemies. He always sympathized with those in distress and always stood ready to help those who needed assistance. He was a man of good habits and a prince of kindness among his neighbors. His family relations were of the highest order. Married twice, the children of both mothers and the relatives of both combined in the same family and it is said by neighbors that in that household there was never a jar or a cloud of trouble. His lodge and club relations were also of the same high order, due largely to the fact that no matter what was on his mind, to worry and distract, he never allowed himself to show it to others, but was always master of himself and never permitted those things to cause any variance in his pleasant treatment of those about him. Mr. Mills, like any of those who survive him, may have had his foibles, but this community recognizes in him a man that it regrets to part with.

GLORY FOR DAN DINNEEN

Decatur Grocery Gets Write Up In Republic Because of Resemblance to Deneen.

HIS PHIZ WENT WITH IT.

The St. Louis Republic of Sunday contained the following:
Decatur, Ill., July 2.—Dan Dinneen, grocery keeper, politician and member of the board of fire commissioners of the city of Decatur, claims no second place with the republican candidate for governor of Illinois, and does not even spell his name the same way. Furthermore he is a good Irish Catholic, while the candidate is reputed to be of old Methodist stock, but he does bear such a striking resemblance to Mr. Deneen of Cook county that much of the local element of the city has been told of it so much that, he says, "it has ceased to be a joke." Dan Dinneen, grocer, has taken to politics almost as much as Charles S. Deneen, lawyer. The Decatur man is an appointee of the present city administration, and as such was identified with the Wagner-Yates faction in the recent republican contest, as opposed to the Hamilton element of the party. Previous to 1900 he had been a democrat, but his personal friendship for Mayor Shilling, a republican, threw him over to that side of the fight. He has not yet said what he means to support Deneen, however.

AN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Rosen and Mr. and Mrs. Vandewater Shaken Up.
Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Rosen and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Vandewater in the new automobile of the former, had an exciting experience Sunday night while returning from a trip to the country. Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George Ehrhart in their machine, they had started for Bloomington, and gave up the trip and started back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ehrhart were leading the way and when near Forsyth they had a man driving a horse and carriage did not show any signs of fear at the Ehrhart machine, but when he saw Mr. Rosen's big "red Devil" he acted queer. Mr. Rosen had scarcely time to realize what was the matter, when the frightened horse seemed to be coming straight for the machine and in trying to turn out of the way the wagon was thrown over the side and the next thing that Mr. and Mrs. Rosen and Mr. and Mrs. Vandewater knew they were lying in a field about ten feet from the wagon. They were all badly shaken up and injured. The driver, after being the most severely injured, effects of the falling he got for some time. His shoulder was badly bruised.

Death of Jacob Owens.
Clinton, July 2.—Jacob Owens died at his home, corner of Elizabeth and Johnson streets, at 1:30 this morning. He had been in poor health for about four years, having been able to do little work in that time. Since last November he had no work. His illness was consumption. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rivington Owens and was born in Franklin county, Texas, Aug. 18 days old. He finally moved to Illinois after two years in Texas and settled on a farm northwest of Clinton, which had been the home of the family until about seven years ago when he came to Clinton and began his present life. He was a bachelor and his health failed. Besides his parents he is survived by five brothers and two sisters.

Those Tent Meetings.
The tent meetings on the corner of Warren street and Jefferson avenue, are still in progress. Admission is free to all and large crowds are present each evening.
"A Glance of the Throne of God in Heaven" is the subject for tonight. This will be a subject of thrilling interest and those who have not yet attended these services, together with the church, are cordially invited to be present this evening.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedial treatment, caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound and roaring in your ears, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation is removed, taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. The cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.

NEARBY TOWNS

LATHAM.

The Logan County Old Settlers association will hold its annual reunion at Mt. Pulaski Wednesday, August 25, 1904.

W. L. Gaine and John Klink left this week for St. Louis to visit the world's fair.

Miss Anna Curry of Shelby county is visiting at John Vaughn's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klink made an overnight trip to Decatur Tuesday afternoon in their automobile.

W. F. Henn has announced his intention of making the race for the nomination of circuit clerk and recorder on the democratic ticket for Logan county.

Mr. Klink is making the necessary arrangements for the building of a new barn on his farm east of Latham.

Mr. Klink is somewhat unique in his arrangement, inasmuch as it will be laid with a concrete floor throughout.

Mr. Klink is now engaged in hauling the sand necessary from Salt Creek.

Miss Roberts visited in Decatur Wednesday.

Mrs. B. P. Durden was shopping in Decatur Saturday.

Mrs. P. Muns and Mrs. L. E. Hunt visited Mrs. E. C. Plunney of Mt. Pulaski last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Bentley were transacting business in Mt. Pulaski on Friday.

Mrs. A. Kishninger, who has been in poor health for some time past, and who was for the last few weeks confined to her bed, departed this life on Wednesday morning.

The funeral services were conducted from the Christian church, and were attended by a large concourse of friends and relatives, whose sympathy goes out to Mr. Kishninger in his dark hour of sorrow and bereavement.

Last Tuesday evening a large party of young folks drove from Mt. Pulaski to Latham as a farewell party to Miss Lela Latus, who was to remove with her parents from that city to Madison, where her father secured the position of ticket agent for the L.C. railroad.

The young people had a most delightful time and a late hour. They returned to their homes in the "Mountain" voting Latham an ideal place for fun and entertainment.

Mr. Vaughn is home again from one of his visits to relatives and friends in Sangamon county.

LEGEND OF THE HOUSE OF ORMONDE.

The marquis and marchioness of Ormonde are conspicuous in London society just now. This is noticeable because Lady Ormonde prefers life in the country and is seldom in town during the season.

When the prince and princess of Wales visited at the castle home of the Ormondes a year ago, they were struck with the beauty of the gold plate, valued at a million and a quarter. This magnificent service belonged to the first duke of Ormonde. It includes rich antique drinking cups, one of which has belonged in its turn to every generation given to the duke by Charles I.

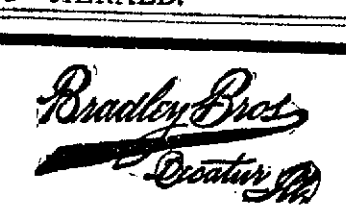

Cups, as a matter of course, play a large part in the family fortunes, since the lords of Ormonde are hereditary chief butlers of the kingdom. The family has a right to be very anxious about the night of the 1st of January, when wine imported into the country is sold to the government at the beginning of the last century for the sum of £25,000.

There is a genuine historic love story connected with the house of Ormonde that stands as a pretty legend of the house. Its hero was James, the 13th earl of Ormonde, and his wife, the 13th countess of Ormonde, had been married in crossing the Irish sea, and his widow, with her three young sons, had a hard struggle with fortune. Her father-in-law, the 13th earl, had had the misfortune to offend the king (James I.) and was almost as poor as herself.

Young James was handsome and doctored and cured, but little for poverty; that is, he cured little and did not head over heels in love with his beautiful cousin, the Lady Elizabeth Preston. She was an only child, a heiress, and her father had a large estate. He had a right to be very anxious about the night of the 1st of January, when wine imported into the country is sold to the government at the beginning of the last century for the sum of £25,000.

BEGINNING THIS WEEK WE CLOSE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS DURING JULY AND AUGUST

COMPARE REGULAR PRICES with REMODELING OFFERS

And you'll find a world of difference. One seeks to make a profit—no matter how small—and the other says goods must go fast—a fight against time to save them from the dust and dirt that's sure to come. Into this whirlpool of special offers even the goods that were ordered for summer and early fall trade have been dumped—late deliveries—delayed shipments—garments that represent the latest touches of fashion, and all offered at prices that cannot fail to interest everyone on economy bent.

Three Wonderful Values in Ladies' Garments to Start the Week

We've bought all of them for May delivery—bought a lot of them—but the demand in the east has been so great that the manufacturer was delayed, and they have just arrived. Now we haven't the room, and we have marked them to make a quick clearance. Your opportunity is right now.

Silk Ulsters, triple capes, the very fashionable belt and backs, full stitched cuffs, the very nobby garment of the year, were bought to sell at $25.00, but you can buy them now at choice for$18.50

Sicilian Cloth Ulsters, almost identical to the silk garments in cut and trimming, all handsomely trimmed, were to sell at $20.00; you buy them this week at each$13.50

Voile Skirts Worth $20.00 at $10.75

The highest grade summer Skirts we've been able to get. All of them elaborately trimmed, all of them at the very height of style, and no offer we could make would be better value than these beautiful garments at about half price. Come this week and buy $20 Voile Skirts at choice for$10.75

Voile Skirts Worth $14.00 at $7.50

About twenty-five of these, fashionable after the very best Paris models, full trimmed, nine-gore, extra full flare, some silk trimmed, medallion and lace trimmed, and you'll find them the very best value ever offered at this low price. Remember $14.00 Skirts this week at choice$7.50

Another shipment of those handsome Shirt Waist Suits, good selection of color, the kind you'd expect to pay $15.00 for; you can buy them here this week or as long as they last at choice for each$9.85

BELTS

FIRST WITH THE NEWS

Herald Extra on the Street at 4 a. m. With Complete Account of Litchfield Wreck.

IT BEAT THEM ALL OUT. Even Globe-Democrat Regular Issue Did Not Compare.

The Herald was on the street as an extra Monday morning at 4 o'clock two hours in advance of any other paper and the newsboys had no difficulty in disposing of their stocks. In fact, the only difficulty was that they could not keep their stocks. As the street began to fill up with people the boys sold out rapidly. One man wanted the paper so badly that he gave the boy five dollars for a copy. The boy gave him back $4.95 in change. Both were satisfied.

The carrier was sent out over their routes and the subscribers of the paper were given an extra without charge. The paper contained all the essential facts and there was nothing left to tell by subsequent issues of the paper except details and incidents. It is a matter of some little difficulty to get out an extra paper on Monday morning. Sunday is the day off for the morning newspapermen and the engineers, electricians, printers, machine operators and reporters, live in widely scattered sections of the city. It was first necessary to collect this force and the work of doing this could not begin until nearly midnight for it was almost that hour before any definite information could be obtained about the wreck. Another difficulty was the fact that there was no steam in the boilers. Newspaper men, however, are accustomed to do things in a hurry, and by 1 o'clock things had commenced to move. In the Herald, the facts presented to the readers were gathered from the Washburn division headquarters and from Litchfield by long distance telephone. There was scarcely an important point that was not touched upon.

Attention of readers is called to the fact that a great big paper like the Globe-Democrat, much nearer the scene of disaster than Decatur, had less than a column about this awful disaster, while The Herald presented a page of matter. The Globe-Democrat was able to do little more than make a bare statement of the accident and give a partial list of the dead and injured. The Globe-Democrat publishes a regular issue Monday morning and the difficulties under which The Herald had to labor but The Herald led them all in the matter of an accurate account of the frightful wreck.

NEW R. F. D. CARRIERS

Examination to be Held in Decatur July 9th for Available List—How Selected.

POSTMASTER MAKES STATEMENT

Word was received at the postoffice yesterday from the Rural Carriers Examining Board of the civil service commission at Washington stating that there would be a civil service examination held in Decatur July 9 at 10 a. m. for rural carriers. The postmaster was requested to procure a room large enough to accommodate a class of at least seventy-five.

The examination will be conducted by W. L. Hancock, postoffice clerk and secretary of the local board of civil service examiners. Postmaster Calhoun in reply to inquiries says:

"There is some misunderstanding as to how rural carriers get into the service. Some six years ago when the establishment of rural free delivery reached this city the carriers were appointed by the postmaster who recommended the route. Since two years ago these carriers were selected by the civil service and there was at that time an examination held by an examiner sent from Washington by the civil service commission. About three months ago new rules were posted in Decatur and other cities and towns, and these rules required those who desired to enter the service to appear before the civil service commission. Some seven or eight men became applicants under these rules and the persons who will be admitted to examination July 5. No other applicants will be admitted to the examination.

"I am advised that all applicants have been notified to appear to me at 9:30 a. m. the day of the examination, and that I am required to inform them where the examination is to be held. The question to be put to the class will be printed with the rules. The answers, these proper spaces for Mr. Hancock under seal. He will not be allowed to open them until 10 a. m. on July 9 in the presence of the applicants. The applicants are given two hours and 15 minutes to fill the blanks and during this time will not be permitted to converse with each other or with any other person and will not be allowed to leave the room. Having completed these examination papers they will be collected by Mr. Hancock placed in an envelope sealed and sent to the civil service board in Washington. In due time the averages will be made up and each applicant will be notified of his standing.

"When a carrier is needed I will be required to ask the civil service commission for a certification. That board will certify the names of the three highest in average in the examination and I will be required to choose one of the three when the choice I have made will be reported to the postoffice department and the appointment will be regularly made.

"It will be observed that this is entirely fair there being no opportunity whatever for favoritism in the examination or elsewhere."

Startling Evidence. Fresh testimony in great quantity is constantly coming in, declaring that King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds is unequalled. A recent expression from T. J. McFarland, Bentonville, Va., serves as example. He writes: "I had bronchitis for three years and doctored all the time without being benefited. Then I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and a few bottles wholly cured me." Equally effective in curing lung and throat troubles, consumption, pneumonia and grip. Guaranteed by John E. King, Chas. F. Shilling and M. L. Krohn, druggists. Trial bottles 10c, regular sizes 50c and $1.

YOUR HAT

May Be a Stylish One, But It Makes Trouble.
A man usually buys a hat that's "in style," but the modern hat for men has lots to answer for.
Baldheads are growing more numerous every day. Hats make excellent breeding places for the parasitic germs which sap the life from the roots of the hair.
When your hair begins to fall out and your scalp is full of Dandruff it is a sign that these countless germs are busily at work.
There is but one way to overcome the trouble and kill the germs that way is to apply Newbro's Herpicide to the scalp—it will kill the germs and healthy hair is sure to result.
Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Cures and Prevents Disease

The cause of ninety per cent of all disease is a faulty digestive and drainage system—the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Let one of these organs become clogged or impeded, more remains in the system many poisons, in time, breed disease, difficult to correct. One should never allow even a temporary stoppage of any one of these organs—they should be kept constantly in perfect working order.

SEVEN BARKS

Seven Barks has been on the American market for over thirty-five years. Its distributors have earned high-praising letters from patients in every walk of life. Thousands of families are never without a bottle. The oldest friends are our best.

THE SERVICE WAS PATRIOTIC

At the Cumberland Presbyterian Church on Sunday Evening and Was Largely Attended.

SERMON BY REV. McDONALD.

On the Reign of the Common People—The Slocum Memorial Service.

At the Cumberland Presbyterian church Sunday evening an entirely patriotic service was held and there was a large congregation present. An excellent musical program was given, singing a duet and George Hunt sang solo. Miss Elmina Travis sang "The City Celestial" and she was assisted by the chorus. Miss Travis has a sweet contralto voice and has excellent control of it and her singing Sunday night was beautiful.

Rev. J. W. McDonald's address was on "The Reign of the Common People" and was exceedingly interesting. Like the other members of the service it was patriotic. Mr. McDonald pointed out that the rules of a servant and the examples of it. He said that 2000 years ago a few people thought that the world was made for that few and the other people were placed on the earth for their use. The Romans held that belief. Everything went forth from the emperor. The religion, the law and education and all were handed to the people by the emperor.

Christ's Teaching.
The Hebrews at that time had a different belief. They said that the world belonged to God and the people belonged to God. Therefore the world belonged to the people. They said that the king was a servant of the people but their belief was not so strong that they enforced it to any great extent. Jesus came and he taught that the world belonged to the people and they were placed here to be the best of it and the men in high offices were merely servants of the common people. Jesus was crucified by the only man who ever taught this principle in that time that believed implicitly in what he said.

Mr. McDonald then came down to the present time and he talked about the line that "all men are created free and equal" as is mentioned in the preamble of the constitution of the United States.

All Men are Equal.
Can a person look at the negroes in the south in their worst condition and believe that all men are created free and equal. Compare the negro with the white man who has all kinds of education and ask again are they created free and equal. Then look at the naked savages roaming about in the Philippines and compare them with the American soldiers in the isles and ask yourself whether or not they are created free and equal as the constitution states.

Go back a moment again to the negro in the south. We can see a little starved, thin, barefooted and half-stupid. Then watch his development and we soon see Booker T. Washington standing forth, a well educated, cultured gentleman though his skin is black, created equal. Wait a few years and see the great development that will take place in the people in the Philippines and then ask yourself again if they are created free and equal.

By this expression of the man who drew up the constitution did not mean to say that every man would be the same chance when he was born and he could make the best of it. Everything is wrapped up in the small babe lying in the cradle and all there is to do is to develop it.

The Development of the Fair.
The world's fair was given us an example. One goes there and looks at things that are wonderful and beautiful and still he never thinks of anything about the fair. The whole people has been drawn in some man's brain before ever a line was put on paper. That man could look and see in his mind that from some man's brain. Wonderful things to come our ancestors, with their insignificant little show.

Mr. McDonald then spoke of the influence that America has on foreigners who have been under the rule of some monarch and told how they throw off their selfishness and become good development with their children. They seem to be changed by the very atmosphere of America. Here the minister cited a couple of examples.

Public Sentiment.
Public sentiment was then taken up by Mr. McDonald who stated that great evil war in which slavery was destroyed was the result of public sentiment. The Spanish war was the result of public sentiment in favor of Cuba. The great coal strike was settled by public sentiment. The struggle something is a started it cannot be moved. The most powerful army in the world cannot force have their sentiment aroused it is always on the right side.

The Japanese have had a public sentiment for several years and the present war is simply an outgrowth of it on account of their sentiment. The Russians on the other hand have not been ruled by public sentiment. They would as soon they have nothing as by the fear and for, except the fear of their ruler.

Mr. McDonald then came back to this country and told of the influence that foreigners and told of the effects of our politics and how the people will be changed by being allowed to choose their own officers instead of being chosen for them by college presidents and graduates. The sense of responsibility makes the people more careful and they are made all the stronger by this sense.

Announcements.
Wednesday evening Dr. A. R. Taylor will read on the State Sunday school convention at the home of Miss Alice Baker at 412 West Decatur street.

There will be no Sunday evening service next Sunday nor the Sunday following on account of the Chautauque.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.
Held by English Lutherans for Slocum Victims.

The memorial exercises by the English Lutheran Sunday school for the memory of the dead in the General Slocum disaster was held Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the English Lutheran church. The service was opened by singing "My Faith Looks up to Thee, Thou Lamb of Calvary" by the school. After this Rev. J. D. Roth, who is acquainted personally with the pastors in the Sunday school service, addressed them and told about the accident and of the awful loss to the schools and especially on St. Mark's Lutheran Sunday school. He said that the authorities who had charge of the steamboat and the inspectors had failed to do their duty, and this caused the accident, and that wherever a man sinned, punishment was sure to come. After the address the school sang, "Jesus as Thou Wilt," and Rev. Peters made an address. He spoke of the accident and what it means to the children of the Sunday school who were assembled one Sunday in the Sunday school rooms and the next Sunday were in their graves. He then made some points about the thought that it was a visitation of God and drew some moral and religious lessons from the disaster. The collection was taken up and will be sent to the relief of the survivors of the shipwreck. "I'm but a Stranger Here" with singing, "My Home," and the Lord's Prayer and benediction.

Communion services were held in the First English Evangelical Lutheran church Sunday morning. The class consisted of several weeks ago received their first communion.

In the evening the Luther League held services in the church instead of the evening services on account of the Fourth of July coming on Monday. Their regular meeting night, Rev. Peters acted as leader.

The Ladies Aid society will not meet during the summer until further notice.

Freeport Editor Says Illinois Republican Editorial Association Will Come to Decatur in September.

GATHERING AN IMPORTANT ONE.
General Smith D. Atkins, of the Freeport Journal, published an editorial in his paper to the effect that the Illinois Republican Editorial association will meet in this city in September. General Atkins is a member of the executive committee of seven which will select the date and city for this meeting. The editorial by General Atkins follows:

The Illinois Republican Editorial association held a meeting at the Great North hotel in Chicago on Monday, June 20, and listened to interesting speeches made by Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, and Charles Dwyer Smith of Philadelphia, and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—George C. Rankin, Monmouth Republican-Atlas.
Vice Presidents—E. F. Shaw, Dixon; W. W. Lewis, Greenville, and J. C. Adams, Peoria.

Secretary—Z. A. Landers, Oregon.
Treasurer—A. R. Van Skiver, Stratford.

Executive Committee—J. R. Stewart, Chapman; W. F. Callan, Decatur; W. R. Jewett, Danville; C. E. Sweet, Canton, and S. D. Atkins, Freeport.

Probably the next meeting of the association will be held in Decatur the first week in September. It is an interesting historical fact that the editors of Illinois literally established the republican party in this state. We remember well when our great grand "grand old party" was born—born of a love of human liberty—when its "watchword" was "free soil," "free speech," "free trade," "free men" and we remember how grandly it marched through the baptism of battle to the full accomplishment of all, and lifted the nation to a higher plane.

BAND DID NOT COME.

But Rain Would Have Prevented a Concert.
The Spencer band from Peoria did not arrive in the city last night. Several days ago Superintendent Harry of the Decatur Railway and Light company received a telegram from Peoria asking if arrangements could be made to give a concert in the city. The band was supposed to be on the way to St. Louis to attend the fair.

Mr. Hurry was glad to secure the band as the Goodman band was engaged for an evening at the County Club. Mr. Hurry telegraphed back that he would make arrangements and for the band to come. He was given here and advertised the concert but when he went to the train Monday evening the band did not appear.

As it was the band would have interfered with the band concert, but Mr. Hurry was simply disappointed without excuse on the part of the band as had made all arrangements to give the concert at Fairview and had advertised it.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Ida Reed.
Mrs. Ida Reed, wife of George Reed, Sunday at her home near Dalton City, aged 20 years. She is survived by her husband and five children, one an infant a few days old.

The funeral was held at noon Monday from the T. R. church at Dalton City. Rev. Trumbull conducted the services and the burial was at Mt. Zion.

Driven to Desperation.
Living at an out of the way place, remote from civilization, a family is often driven to desperation in case of accident, resulting in burns, cuts, wounds, ulcers, etc. Lay in a supply of Bucklen's Arnica Salve. It is a supply on earth. 25c at John E. King, Chas.
